HORNER PLAN TO BROADEN SALES TAX ADVANCED

Effects Businesses Now Exempt From Sales Taxes

Springfield, Ill., June 1.—(AP)—Mayor Edward J. Kelly disclosed today he would ask the legislature to grant Chicago wide new powers to license businesses and industries as a means of producing an estimated $3,000,000 yearly for relief.

This local revenue plan was the first tangible result of the three weeks of conferences between the mayor and Governor Horner on relief financing.

Aides of Horner also tossed a new "producers" tax bill into the special session last night, designed to extend the three per cent sales tax to certain businesses and occupations now exempt.

To determine if relief funds are now available in the state and Chicago treasuries, the house invited Horner and Kelly or their spokesmen to appear at a hearing tomorrow morning.

"There are several proposals for new relief taxes," said Minority Leader Elmer J. Schnackenberg of Chicago. "Before we go any further I think we ought to get some accurate information about whether there is any money that can be used for relief."

Hearing Next Tuesday.

The house scheduled a relief hearing for Tuesday at which supervisors and others interested in relief will be invited to appear.

Meanwhile the Woodard investigating commission introduced the key bills in its "Little WPA" relief plan.

Kelly's announcement came after he talked with the governor until long after midnight at the executive mansion.

"The bill will permit us to license everything in the way of businesses and industries that do not pay a city license," the mayor said. "I think it will be an agreed bill. We also have another plan under consideration but it is not yet ready to be discussed."

"This licensing plan would be in lieu of increased real estate taxes. One industry recently had a strike that cost the city $100,000 for police protection; such benefits I think justify payment of a city license."

Amounts of proposed fees and types of businesses to be affected had not been finally worked out, the mayor added. "The fees won't be so big that they would put anyone out of business," he said.

Pass Utilities Tax.

The Horner administration's second proposal to broaden the sales tax confronted the legislature today, as the House passed the bill extending the $9,000,000 a year utility tax act beyond July 1.

Distinct from the "use" tax bill, which would tack the three per cent levy on out of state purchases for occupational uses, the newest "producers" tax proposal was described by S. L. Nudelmann, state finance director, as affecting certain businesses and occupations now legally exempt from sales taxes.

Nudelmann mentioned photographers, blue printers and makers of special tools and dies as examples of those which would come under the bill. He estimated it would produce about $1,500,000 yearly to partially offset the $500,000 monthly increase in relief outlay the assembly voted last week.

The bill specified no particular occupations, defining producers as persons or firms producing "tangible personal property especially for the buyer, which when produced is not suitable for sale to others than the buyer in the ordinary course of the producers' business."

It carried a $100,000 appropriation to the finance department for administration costs.

To Extend Utility Tax.

Second major bill to pass the House in the special session, the utility tax bill went to the Senate where passage was probable next week. It continues the three per cent tax on receipts of utilities to July 1, 1939, after which date the tax would revert to two per cent.

The "use" tax bill, pending in the senate, awaited a hearing in the revenue committee headed by James O. Monroe, Collinsville Democrat. Monroe is co-sponsor of the bill with Senator Robert M. Harper, East Moline, the Horner floor leader. Also a relief revenue proposal, the bill was estimated by Nudelmann to raise between $1,500,000 and $3,000,000 annually.

Finis Written

Mexico City, June 1.—(AP)—The Mexican government apparently has written finis to the revolt of Saturnino Cedillo which broke out May 20 in San Luis Potosi state.

Dispatches from San Luis Potosi city said Cedillo's sister had visited President Lazaro Cardenas in an attempt to arrange a surrender of the Agrarista overlord.

The pursuit of Cedillo, still at large, was described as an operation for military police.

President Cardenas was quoted as saying in an address at Matehuala in the northern part of the state: "Let us leave the sick man (Cedillo) to his flight through the hills."

FRANCO POINTS FIERCE DRIVE UPON VALENCIA

Insurgents Slowly Dislodge Loyalist Militia

Hendaye, France.—(At the Spanish frontier)—June 1.—(AP)—Insurgents scaled precipitous mountains on the front east of Teruel today, fighting hand to hand with government militiamen in a general offensive aimed at the capture of Valencia.

On land and in the air, the fighting in this new drive by General Francisco Franco's army assured proportions equal in severity to any in the nearly two-year-old civil war.

His warplanes pounded cities and concentrations on the eastern coast while the full power of his infantry, cavalry, and artillery slowly dislodged government troops from their bustling positions north of the highway that reaches from Teruel to Sagunto and Valencia.

Reports reaching the frontier said the death toll from yesterday's insurgent bombing of Granollers, 16 miles north of Barcelona, would reach more than 500. Many other hundreds were injured.

Scene of Slaughter.

Large groups of stone and rubbish on the main street of the town of 9,000 marked the scene of slaughter. Buildings still standing were pitted with steel fragments. One building was split in two.

This terrible foray, crashing death among long queues of women and children waiting in the market place for potato rations, was only one of many such raids yesterday.

Sagunto, most-bombed town in eastern Spain, again was visited.

The British ship Penthaeus was sunk and a Spanish vessel damaged in Valencia harbor by bombs. This brought to five the ships sunk or set afire at Valencia within a week, but the harbor remained the busiest in government Spain with 14 vessels in port.

Insurgents faced a difficult task in their drive through the mountains toward the Teruel-Valencia highway, for government fortifications made use of the mountain passes dangerous.

General advances were reported all along the front, however, except on the extreme eastern flank between Albocacer and Alcala de Chisvert.

WARASH RECEDING.

Mount Carmel, Ill., June 1.—(AP)—The Warash river was receding today after reaching a crest of less than flood stage in its third rise of the season. The river had fallen a full foot today and stood at about 13 feet.

Given Warning

Des Moines, Iowa, June 1.—(AP)—Patrolman M. A. T. in Brightman appeared before Municipal Judge Ralph Powers and extended two $1 bills.

"Judge," he said, "I'm guilty of overtime parking. I've issued lots of traffic tickets and don't want it said I didn't pay my fine."

The Judge, saying "I like your attitude in this matter," suspended the fine, but added: "If there is a next time, it'll be double."

Landon Issues Plea for National Tolerance at Aurora Last Evening

Aurora, Ill., June 1.—(AP)—The nation can "muddle through" its difficulties, says Alf M. Landon, if it can maintain "decent, free public life discussion and the true spirit of tolerance."

"This means we must fight for the right of every man to speak as he believes, especially the man with whom you disagree," he said.

F. D. R. REQUESTS NO HALTERS ON RELIEF EXPENSE

Emergency Employment Action Needed To Meet Recession

Washington, June 1.—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked today that Congress impose "no restrictions" over the administration of relief funds provided in the $3,247,000,000 spending-lending bill.

In a letter to Senator Adams (D-Colo.), floor manager for the relief measure, Roosevelt asserted that the unemployment situation has "grown worse" since he sent his relief message to Congress six weeks ago.

"Emergency employment, therefore, should come right away instead of being deferred," the president said, adding:

"It is the gap existing now that we want to fill. Therefore, I greatly hope that the emergency appropriation bill in its final form will put no restrictions on the immediate starting of works projects, and that it will make possible the selection of those projects which can be got under way most speedily."

Meanwhile, "little business" gained assurance in the other big issue before Congress—wages and hours—that Senate conferees would fight for elastic standards in order to protect its interests.

Senators Thomas (D-Utah), Walsh (D-Mass), and Pepper (D-Fla.) said many small merchants and manufacturers had declared they could not continue to operate if they had to provide the same minimum wages and maximum hours as larger firms.

On Compromise Committee.

The three senators are among members of a joint committee which will begin tomorrow to draft compromise wage-hour legislation. The major issue is whether nationally uniform standards shall be ordered.

Walsh, pointing out that 68 per cent of the nation's business firms employ less than 20 persons, said any compromise bill should consider the ability of an employer to adjust himself to its provisions over a period of months or years.

Thomas, chairman of the Senate labor committee, urged that a board be created to make exceptions where right standards would bring unemployment.

The Senate bill provides for such a board, but the House measure fixes scales of pay and hours which would apply alike to virtually all industries and to all sections of the country.

Noting that the Senate-House committee has wide powers to rewrite the legislation, Senator Pepper said he thought it should be broadened "to provide some stimulation for small businesses in remote sections of the country."

Forecast Long Struggle.

Although some committeemen forecast a long struggle over the measure, administration leaders said that yesterday's decision to abandon the government reorganization bill until next year virtually assured adjournment by June 10.

Senate chieftains hope to pass by tomorrow night the $3,247,000,000 relief and public works bill—the only major legislation besides the wage-hour bill still on the calendar. The Senate was called to session at 11 A. M. (Eastern Standard Time), an hour earlier than usual, to hasten a vote.

One of the biggest fights remaining centered on a committee amendment to restrict use of PWA funds for constructing utility systems which would compete with privately-owned plants. Senator Norris (Ind-Neb), so-called "father" of the TVA, was leading an attempt to eliminate the restriction.

ROCKFORD MAN DROWNS.

Madison, Wis.—(AP)—Lake Waubesa was dragged last night for the body of Earl Albers, 21, of Rockford, Ill., who drowned when his boat overturned.

A summons was issued shortly before James Roosevelt was scheduled to speak at Ford Hall Forum May 19, but he was not present. Instead he reported to the Mayo Brothers' Clinic at Rochester, Minn., for a physical examination.

Standup Strike

Ilion, N. Y., June 1.—(AP)—A "standup strike" by Remington Rand employees in protest against refusal of the United States Supreme Court to review a National Labor Relations Board order reinstating strikers ended quickly today in plants at Middletown, Conn., and Ilion, Syracuse and Elmira, N. Y.

Employees returned to their jobs after being told that the company would do "everything possible" to meet demands of the Remington Rand Employees Association that the group be recognized as the sole bargaining agent for workers.

The Supreme Court yesterday refused to review a board order directing the company to reinstate 4,000 workers on strike for more than two years.

U. S. ENGINEERS TO HELP FRENCH BUILD PLANES

Paris, June 1.—(AP)—An agreement between the French government and United States airplane manufacturers for what may amount to a general overhauling of the French warplane industry by American engineers was disclosed today at a meeting of the Chamber of Deputies air committee.

Members of the committee said Chairman Lucien Bossoutrot had told them that in return for a recent order of 100 Curtiss pursuit planes American manufacturers had agreed to send engineers to France to advise the air ministry.

When the planes are delivered, Bossoutrot was quoted as saying, machinery also will be delivered for the manufacture of spare parts and will be used eventually in France's nationalized factories to build entire new fighting planes.

Deputy Pierre Dignac had requested "explanations" from the air ministry regarding the purchase of American planes and Bossoutrot in making his statement said he was speaking for Air Ministry Guy La Chambre.

The enlisting of American aid was described by Bossoutrot as necessary because of grave war threats in Europe.

Total of $9,623 Paid for Relief Of County's Aged

A total of $9,623 was paid to old age assistance clients in Lee county during the month of May according to figures released at the county department of public welfare offices here today. At the end of the month 42 applications were pending, which had been carried over from the month of April, and 13 new applications were on file, making a total of 55. Nine of these were granted awards, one withdrew and one was cancelled, leaving a total of 44 applications pending at the close of the month of May. Of this number, 36 were pending in state headquarters at Springfield and eight in Lee county.

There was a total of 601 active cases from the month of April, with nine new additions for a total of 610. Of this number, 601 received payment in May, five were deceased, two transferred from Lee county and two were suspended, with 603 active applications in effect at the close of May.

WANTS TO SUMMON James Roosevelt

Boston, June 1.—(AP)—Counsel for Arthur D. Cronin, Boston insurance broker, said today he was anxious to summon James Roosevelt, son of the president, as a witness in Cronin's breach of contract suit against the National Shawmut Bank of Boston.

The lawyer, Romney Spring, said the suit was based on the contention Cronin's firm obtained insurance in 1934 for the bank's time sales department, but that commission was paid Orion, Russell and Company, an insurance firm with which the president's son was associated.

A summons was issued shortly before James Roosevelt was scheduled to speak at Ford Hall Forum May 19, but he was not present. Instead he reported to the Mayo Brothers' Clinic at Rochester, Minn., for a physical examination.

U. S. Demands That Japan Allow Americans To Repossess Properties

Interference Giving American Government Concern

Washington, June 1.—(AP)—The United States demanded today that Japan "take immediate steps" to restore American properties in China "to their rightful owners."

In a strong note presented by Ambassador Joseph C. Grew to Japanese Foreign Minister Ugaki, the Japanese were told that their "infringement of and interference with American rights in China" was "giving the government of the United States increasing concern."

It was pointed out that while Japanese civilians have been permitted to enter and do business in areas from which the Sino-Japan conflict has moved on American businessmen and missionaries have been denied permission not only to resume their former residences but even to visit their holdings.

State department officials estimated that over 300 Americans have been waiting in Shanghai for many months to get permission to return to their properties in the Yangtze valley, including Nanking.

Contents of Note.

The note said that "the problem of enabling American citizens in China to reenter and repossess their properties from which they have been excluded by the Japanese military and of which the Japanese military have been and in some cases still are in occupation is giving the government of the United States increasing concern."

The United States specifically demanded the return of the University of Shanghai to the northern and southern Baptist mission societies. The university has been occupied by Japanese military and naval units, the note said, since shortly after the outbreak of hostilities at Shanghai, August, 1937.

University Land Used.

The note asserted the university premises "have been used by the Japanese for quartering troops and for military offices," and added that airplanes were stationed on the campus and a supplemental runway for planes constructed "on the adjacent golf course, which has been converted by the Japanese into a military flying field."

The Japanese, the communication added, have refused permits "on the ground that peace and order have not been sufficiently restored." However, it was pointed out, "Japanese civilians are freely permitted to go into and reside in such areas—as for example, at Nanking where some 800 Japanese nationals, including a substantial number of women and children, are reported to be in residence."

With regard to Americans, however, applications have been refused even for brief inspection visits.

POSSES FORMED TO SEARCH FOR KIDNAP VICTIM

F. B. I. Agents Seized Man in Crowd; Rush Him To Miami

BULLETIN.

Huntington, N. Y., June 1.—(AP)—A wallet containing a picture of a child said by his finder to resemble strongly five-year-old James B. Cash, Jr., kidnaped in Florida, was picked up today on a stairway leading to the Long Island Railroad station here by Charles E. Price, a freight clerk.

On an envelope containing the photograph was this unsigned message: "Boy held by gunmen and woman. I escaped in the Everglades 16 miles from Princeton (Florida) across the railroad tracks."

Princeton, Fla., June 1.—(AP)—Abandoning hope for the safe return of kidnaped Jimmy Cash, hundreds of men undertook a grim manhunt in posesses of 15 today while federal agents dramatically seized one of their number.

Emerging from a conference with the father, James Bailey Cash, Sr., in his home, the G-men grabbed M. P. Braxton, a bald, portly carpenter about 55 years old, who was in the throng being formed into posesses in a school yards 100 yards away.

Shielding him with their bodies, they hustled him to an automobile and sped north to Miami. Braxton was taken to the office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation there where agents, declining to make public any information, closeted themselves with him.

A general call was sent out for volunteers to start a thorough search of the farms and groves in this vicinity for some trace of the five-year-old youngster, stolen Saturday for $10,000 ransom which was paid early yesterday. The highway through the center of Princeton soon was lined with automobiles for a mile in each direction as they aroused farmers responded.

Citizens Join Posesses.

Hundreds of Boy Scouts arrived in buses and automobiles. Members of veterans organizations and civic clubs and CCC men also joined the growing throng of searchers.

E. J. Connolly, FBI inspector in charge of the case, personally directed search of the area around the spot where Cash tossed the $10,000 in small bills from his car in accordance with a ransom note. Sheriff D. C. Coleman and deputies joined him.

Connolly also organized the citizens into posesses, selecting 26 trusted men as group leaders. The searchers, who came with pistols and shotguns, were requested to leave all weapons behind and take only stout sticks to beat the brush.

The FBI inspector assigned each posse to a specific area with instructions to search

News of Interest to Community Farmers

SMITH DECLARES IT IS A MISTAKE TO IGNORE AAA

President of IAA Spoke At Mass Meeting At Sterling Last Night

Farmers will be making a great mistake if they fail to take advantage of their opportunities and do their utmost to make the agricultural adjustment program effective in controlling crop surpluses. Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association, told a mass meeting of farmers and business men at the Sterling Coliseum last night. The meeting was arranged by the Whiteside County Farm Bureau.

"We all recognize the limitations of the program," Mr. Smith said. "The act does not in every way represent the thought of the Illinois Agricultural Association. There are many details connected with its administration which appear to be too inflexible. These have resulted in many inequalities if not injustices in corn and soil depletion allotments of individual farms. However, I firmly believe that the fundamental principles of the program are sound, workable and defensible.

May Find It Difficult. "No doubt, there are many cases where for one or more reasons, farmers will find it very difficult, if not impossible to fully comply with the program this year. But by giving compliance to the full extent that conditions will permit, we will as farmers be in a much better position to seek and secure any changes in the law or its administration that are found to be necessary.

"There is no regimentation or dictation in this program. No farmer surrenders any right to operate his farm in any way he pleases. He can go right ahead farming and planting every acre and thus help pile up unneeded crop surpluses. He can do his worst to wreck the price level. He can even refuse to share his share of the surplus on the farm should more than two-thirds of the farmers vote to impose marketing quotas upon themselves. Only when farmers by such large majority make their determination, is such a non-cooperating farmer subject to any kind of penalty. Even then, he is only called upon to store on his farm that portion of his production in excess of his marketing quota and upon which reasonable loans are available.

Farmers' Question. "The question immediately before farmers is this: Shall we take advantage of our opportunities and prevent oncoming surpluses from seriously breaking price levels, then later move forward to correct any weaknesses and inequities in the present program; or shall we exaggerate these initial mistakes and ignore the act and its opportunities to restore fair price levels for basic farm products.

"I firmly believe that the fast decline in the price levels of basic farm commodities during the late summer, fall and winter of 1937 is the major cause of the present recession and increased unemployment. With prices of their commodities fast declining, is it not natural for thinking farmers to curtail their buying of industrial products? And with a greatly lessened demand for factory goods can we hope for anything but an increase in the army of unemployed?

"Can anyone suggest a better way to maintain fair prices for farm products than a program directed toward the orderly withholding from market of surpluses of basic grains and fibre by farmers encouraged by a system of commodity loans, and to the extent necessary later adjust crop production.

On Thursday, May 2, the Home Economics and Agriculture clubs will hold their annual school picnic at Lowell park picnic grounds. All students are asked to come and to meet at the high school between 9:00 A. M. and 9:30 A. M. Cars will be furnished for those who haven't a way. For those who ride bicycles, please bring your food to the Home Economics laboratory before 9:30 so it will be taken to the picnic.

There will be a baseball game in the forenoon and in the afternoon there will be games, races, and stunts for everyone.

The Dixon chapter has qualified three teams for the state Judging Contest which is to be held on June 9 and 10. The three teams qualified are: corn, grain, and poultry. The contestants have not as yet been selected.

The rules and regulations have just been received at the high school for the 1938 Vocational Fair at Oregon. Several of the most important items are as follows:

1. All the animals with the exceptions of the breeding beef class, must be registered in the name of the exhibitor and owner, not later than June 1, 1938.
2. All swine projects must be vaccinated 30 days previous to the date of the fair and 60 days if vaccinated with double treatment.
3. There will not be a class for the aged sows due to the extreme heat, also the condition of the sow at fair time.
4. All market hogs will be weighed on the fair grounds in the afternoon and morning before the fair. All contestants are urged to bring one double hurdle and one single hurdle.

The agriculture class has completed this year's work by writing up the bulletin 18 for the coming year, also by completing their agriculture IV examination last Thursday and Friday. They say it was easy! All outstanding bills against the class will be brought in Tuesday and Wednesday during the free periods between the examinations. The 4-H club camp will be held from June 30 to July 3 (Sunday). The cost will be $1.00 per day or $3.50 for the entire camping period. The swimming will be in charge of C. E. Yale of Amboy. There will be all kinds of games and sports for everyone attending. This camp is located 3 miles south of New Milford on U. S. route No. 52. The enrollment should be made as soon as possible due to the Lee county allotment.

Word was received by leaders and assistant club leaders that all dairy club projects must be tested for Bang's disease before entering the fair grounds, even the local fair at Amboy. Be sure that every animal which you expect to show is tested and certified. This is effective on June 1, 1938. It is important.

Farm Briefs

George E. Pitzer, manager of the Dodge farm on route 2, Dixon, states that they are to start construction on a modern farm home which is to have 8 rooms and a bath. They have already completed remodeling a large barn, combination, two-car garage with tool room, a large implement and store room and one of the best corn cribs and grain storehouses in this section of the country.

The horse show which was to have been Sunday at Maple Lane Farm, Oswego, was postponed because of the downpour of rain. The show will be held next Sunday.

About the biggest interest to local farmers these days was the daily rain. In the past month there have been only about 8 days that it hasn't rained at some time during the 24 hours. And that, farmers are saying, isn't so good. Perhaps the weather is taking a hand in crop allotments, too.

Laurence Jennings has sold the Robert Johnson 80 acre farm north of Ashton to Christ Klenke. Mr. Jennings has also sold the William Weise 80 acre farm near Amboy to Lloyd Johnson of Dixon.

One farmer reports that there will be some cherries in this neighborhood this year, but the frost cut the crop in half or more and has injured the quality of the fruit. Other fruits promise to be a short crop and poor quality. Some kinds will be a total failure. They blossomed profusely but the frost destroyed the crop.

From Oregon-way it is reported that Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Thorpe have moved to the Nygren farm which they have purchased.

W. L. Weise of Amboy, who has purchased the William C. Schafer farm in Bradford township, expects to move there in the near future.

At this writing the secretary-treasurer of the committee at Paw Paw which is promoting the cold storage plant, has not received a single signed subscription for stock in the proposed plant.

It is reported that at least one firm selling hybrid seed corn on a large scale has discovered that the corn didn't grow as well as it should. This firm is reported to have sold several thousands of bushels of this corn and it has been coming back to them in large quantities with disastrous results both to the firm who sold it and the farmers who bought it, especially where the corn had been planted. Farmers who find themselves with a quantity of expensive seed corn that won't grow are in for trouble. Last minute orders for good seed corn are hard to fill. Farmers had faith in the hybrid seed corn producers of the country and hundreds of them saved no seed of their own growing.

Horses are said to endure work better in hot weather if they are turned out on pasture at night with water and salt available.

The farmers of Paw Paw will have their annual picnic on Tuesday, June 14. They will have a big day and are inviting the farmers and all others to join in the program. There will be speakers in the afternoon and also a ball game as well as other sports. In the evening there will be vaudeville stunts and prizes are being offered for the best.

Directions for preparing oil bait for the control of army worms and grasshoppers are contained in Bulletin 442, "Oil Bait for Grasshopper and Armyworm Control," which may be obtained by writing to the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Robert Lyle Brown, Polo has been issued a certificate of merit by the Holstein-Friesian association of America in recognition of satisfactory calf club work carried on by him. He is the 4900th member of the junior organization of the world's largest dairy cattle association and he is entitled to all privileges of the organization except voting unless he is 21 years old. Pedigrees of Holsteins owned by him will be registered, and transfer of ownership will be made at members' rates, which is one-half of that charged non-members.

Milk company payrolls in April showed an increase of 2.65 per cent compared with April 1937, although employment decreased 3.16 per cent for the same period, according to reports from 136 leading markets to the Milk Industry Foundation. Daily average sales of fluid milk during April 1938 showed a decrease of 3.2 per cent from the same month a year ago. April daily average sales totaled 6,168,669 quarts compared with 6,372,649 quarts in April 1937.

The electric saw which was purchased for the Amboy cold storage plant was transferred to Dixon when the new plant was opened. So much came into the Dixon plant that it was necessary to hold the saw here. A second saw was purchased by the board of directors and this saw will be placed in the Amboy plant and installed within

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

We have had a cool spring with plenty of moisture—even out in Kansas! It has been good weather for eggs.

But one of these days it will probably get hot—quick! And that's when you want to watch out for the quality of your eggs. People who candle eggs tell me they noticed a difference in the freshness those few hot days we had.

Hot, dry air takes the freshness out of eggs in a hurry.

So when hot weather hits, don't wait until you have been disappointed a couple of times by the way your eggs grade. Begin right away to give them the extra care they need this time of year.

The important thing is to cool them at once.

The temperature of an egg when it is laid is over 100 degrees. You should know that a new-laid egg feels hot to your hand. These warm eggs should be cooled quickly, just like warm milk.

Cool Eggs Over Night.

I was in a produce house the other day when they brought in a candling ticket to a lady who had been waiting while they graded her eggs. The produce man handed the ticket over to me and said, "Take a look at this. We don't get eggs any finer than these and they're always just as fresh—winter or summer."

"How do you take care of your eggs so they're always so fresh, even in hot weather," I asked her.

"The hotter it gets, the more often I gather them," she said. "As often as four or five times a day. You know, you can't leave them lying around in a hot nest and expect them to stay fresh. And then I don't leave them on the back porch or in the kitchen. I take them clear down cellar where it's cool and spread them out so the air can get to them. You don't want to put them down in the case while they're still warm, you know, because then it takes forever to get them cooled out. I leave them all spread out like that over night. And then the next morning when they're all cooled out, I put them in the case."

I think it would be a good thing if more people took care of their eggs the way this lady does. "It really isn't any more trouble," she says. "It's just a matter of getting in the habit."

Try handling your eggs this way for a couple of weeks and see how much better they grade.

Sincerely yours,

Frank Priebe

(Copyright, May 28, 1938, Frank Priebe, 110 North Franklin, Chicago.)

A few days. Cutting meat by the use of an electric band saw makes for greater efficiency in the plant. Steaks, roasts and chops can be cut more uniformly and much quicker than by hand. Both butchers, Charles Becker at Amboy, and Paul Grimes at Dixon, have had experience in using a band saw.

The Holstein Breeders Association, composed of Cole & Smith, Roy Degner, L. A. Faivre & Son, Vernon Pomeroy, and T. E. Hillison, have now purchased the fourth bull for their association. This bull was purchased from the Ray F. Sellon farm at Galva, Ill. He came from a 600-pound dam, on twice-daily milking, and by a bull that was bred back to Sir Inka May and Carnation Ormsby Butter King. This is the fourth bull of similar breeding, concentrating the blood of Sir Inka May and Carnation Ormsby Butter King in the herd. This bull will be at the Smith & Cole farm south of Amboy. The other bulls are with T. E. Hillison, Roy Degner and L. A. Faivre. A fifth bull will be purchased soon.

How to Make Hay Safely When The Sun Shines

The haying season is almost here. . . . once arrived it will keep all hands on the jump. For this reason, haying tackle should be put in shape now for the crop will soon be ready, says C. M. Seagraves, safety director, Illinois Agricultural Association.

"If the hay rope has been out in the weather all winter, or where rain has intermittently soaked it, the chances are it needs replacement with a new rope. Any worn or weak places should be cut out and spliced," says Seagraves. "The blocks should be tested to make certain they are securely anchored."

"Single-trees and double-trees should be carefully scrutinized because a mowing machine or rake is no vehicle for a joy ride should the team become frightened and run away as a result of a breakdown. The horses on the hay fork should have harness and double-trees free from defects."

"Incidentally now while the hay is low in the mow would be a most opportune time to fix the holes in the floor before someone falls through."

BLACK & WHITE SHOW TO BE AT ASSEMBLY PARK

Holstein Association Is Planning Meet Here For June 7

The Rock River Valley Holstein club is planning its second annual Black and White show to be held here at Assembly Park on June 7, according to word received from Roy W. Degner, the club's secretary.

Seventy-four cattle are expected to be on the grounds by 9:00 A. M. The bulk of these cattle are coming from Lee county, between 50 and 60 in number. Besides this group of cattle, there will also be the 4-H Club Black and White cattle which will show in the morning starting about 10:00 o'clock. All the cattle which will show in the morning starting about 10:00 o'clock. All the cattle shown must be blood-tested within a 60-day period and must show a health certificate. These must be handed to the secretary as soon as the cattle enter the grounds.

Judging Contest Will Be Held.

There will be a judging contest for all men and boys over 18 years. There will also be a junior group for boys in high school and under 18 years. A trophy will be awarded for the best showmanship of 4-H animals. There will be open class to follow club judging. The open class judging will follow the 4-H club judging and will be done by S. C. Rhode, dairy extension specialist of the University of Illinois. Mr. Rhode will judge the cattle according to the group judging brackets; that is, all cattle coming into the first class will be awarded a blue ribbon and all those coming into the second class will be given a red ribbon. This is a new method of judging which has been adopted by many fairs and is proving very successful.

The milk companies are backing the program and the general public should be particularly interested in it—city people as well as farmers.

The slogan of the association is "Better Holsteins, Better Milk and Health."

"If you are a Holstein breeder," Mr. Degner said, "and have not entered one of your animals in the show, get in touch with me or J. J. Cole at Amboy."

CATTLEMEN TO MEET JUNE 6 AT WALNUT SESSION

Omar L. Baumgartner, director of the Illinois Guernsey Breeders association, has announced a dinner and get-together for Section IV of the organization to be held Monday evening, June 6, at 6:30 in the gymnasium of the high school at Walnut.

Mr. Baumgartner has said that all Guernsey breeders are invited to the Section IV dinner and he hopes that the breeders in this section of the country will attend to promote interest in this cattle. All farm advisers, vocational teachers, 4-H club leaders, F. F. A. and 4-H members, cow testers and anyone interested in better dairy cattle is welcome to attend. Wives and families are included in the invitation.

H. C. Horneman of Danville will act as toastmaster. Mr. Horneman is owner of the well-known Kenfield farms, president of the Illinois Guernsey Breeders association and a director of the American Guernsey Cattle club.

C. S. Rhode, professor of dairy husbandry and dairy extension of the University of Illinois and R. L. Holden, national fieldman of the American Guernsey Cattle club, will be the speakers of the evening. Mr. Holden will present some film strips showing the Island of Guernsey and also of the breed activities in the middle west.

Sometime during the session Mr. Horneman, president, will call a meeting of the directors of the Illinois Guernsey Breeders association.

Reservations for the banquet may be made through Mr. Baumgartner at Walnut.

CORN PLANTING IS DELAYED BY EXCESSIVE RAIN

Springfield, Ill., June 1—(AP)—Delayed by rains, corn planting in Illinois is about 80 per cent completed, Agricultural Statistician A. J. Surratt declared yesterday.

"Dry weather is needed immediately to prevent impairment of corn due to increasing weediness of fields generally," he said in the semi-monthly report of the state and federal agricultural departments.

"Some replanting will be necessary or the acreage abandoned for replacement by soybeans in flooded low spots. Reports indicate recent wet field conditions will likely result in the state corn acreage being somewhat less than the soybean acreage somewhat well above earlier plans. Delayed field work in May will also result in a considerable spread in the advancement of growth between early and late corn."

"Sixty per cent of corn already planted is now up to a favorable stand as a rule. Cultivation was getting underway over the weekend where field conditions permitted work. About 26 per cent of the soybean acreage has been planted and this work will be pushed rapidly with the advent of more favorable conditions for field work."

Small grains are in fair to good condition except in the southeast, Surratt said.

Fewer Milk Cows, But Average Production Up

The total quantity of milk produced on farms in the United States last year is estimated by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics at slightly more than 103 billion pounds. Production was about the same as in 1936, nearly 2 per cent greater than in either 1934 or 1935, but about 1 1/2 billion pounds short of the record milk production of 1933.

The average number of milk cows on farms in the United States during 1937 is estimated to have been 23,710,000 head. This was about 1 per cent fewer than in 1936 and about 6 per cent below the peak number in 1934. Milk production per cow in 1937 averaged 4,353 pounds, which was about 1 per cent higher than in 1936 and the highest since 1931.

The Living Soil

... Its Modern Care

BY CHARLES H. SALT

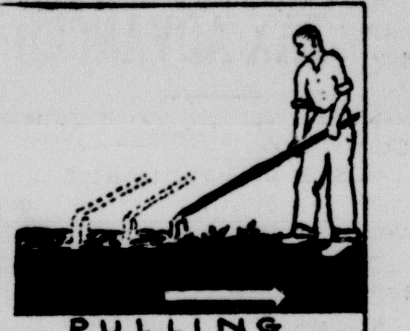

Director, The Living Soil Institute

Because we include in our discussions here the modern care of the soil, we are frequently contacted by people who feel that they have what might be termed a soil practice contemporary with our progressive times.

One of the recent ideas presented that seemed to be quite sensible was the adaptation of the interesting that apparently only a few home owners have ever put this idea into practice.

Probably the most commonly followed procedure in working the soil in the home garden is the chopping principle. As the word implies, the particular tool operated in this manner is chopped into the soil. Anyone of the present generation who, in his younger days, spent any time on the farm is undoubtedly acquainted with this practice. It can fundamental method of operation of large farm soil-machines to hand operated tools. As the tractor or horse pulls the plow, harrow and cultivator through the soil, so it was this particular individual's contention that garden equipment should be pulled through the soil in a similar manner.

In spite of the fact that farmers have been using for a good many years this method of soil care in their extensive plantings, it is in-not be denied that much time and labor is involved in this operation. Progress down the weedy garden row is indeed very slow when the gardener must advance on the enemy an inch at a time.

And that is one big advantage of the pulling method, we gathered. When the pulling principle is followed, much more ground is covered with each stroke of the tool. Thus, it is claimed, a great deal of time and labor is saved.

OREGON MAN IS LEADER IN MAY CATTLE REPORT

With 8 R. H., J. W. Hemingway of Oregon takes first place in the Ogle County D. H. I. A. report for the month of May with an average of 1150 pounds of milk and 42.30 pounds of fat. No cows were dry. All cows were on two time-a-day milk.

Methodist Church Planning Picnic

A picnic that is different is being planned by the Methodist church of Dixon to be held at Lowell park Thursday afternoon and evening, June 9th. A unique feature of the picnic will be a genuine barbecue. The pit will be dug the day before and the fire started and hours before the time of the feast whole hams and great pieces of beef will be cooking over the open fire. An expert barbecue man has been engaged to cook the meat.

The picnic is to be an all church affair and the heads of every department in the church will meet in the pastor's study this evening to plan the details. A committee on games and recreation will be appointed and the afternoon will be given over to ball games, horseshoes, volley ball and other forms of recreation.

In the evening at 6 o'clock entire families will gather about the festive boards for the barbecue dinner. Several hundred people are expected to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Quick Honored On Anniversary

On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Quick celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary. In the evening 24 guests enjoyed a wedding supper served buffet style. The bride's cake and the groom's cake were decorated in silver trimming and adorned with a miniature bride and groom.

Judge Grover Gehant gave a beautiful Edgar Guest wedding poem and Howard Quick, son of the honored couple, responded with a tribute to his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Quick were presented with a lovely silver coffee service in honor of the happy occasion. During the dinner hour congratulatory telegrams were received from their relatives in the west.

Contract bridge was the diversion of the evening.

Robinson-Miller Nuptials Today

Joseph R. Miller, member of the Dixon fire department, and Mrs. Florence Robinson were united in marriage this morning at 6:30 at the parish house of St. Patrick's Catholic church, the Rev. Fr. Joseph Staples, the latter being a sister of the bride. Following the ceremony, the party enjoyed a wedding breakfast at the Staples residence, after which they left on a two weeks' motor trip through the east.

Miss Pearl Neff Honored at Party

On Saturday evening Miss Pearl Neff was honored at a linen shower by her mother and sister, Mrs. Emil Neff and daughter Elsie. Bridge was played at four tables and the first prize was won by Mrs. Robert Brewster. Those who didn't play bridge, cut for second award which was won by Miss Helen Carson. Sara Carson won consolation award.

Miss Neff will become the bride of Kenneth Dettweiler sometime the last of this month.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Acker, 615 Squires avenue, celebrated her seventh birthday Tuesday by entertaining six of her little friends at her parents' home after school. Brain Twizzlers

By PROF. J. D. FLINT

One of these guys who lives to do crazy things decided to be a public thrill-giver so he planned to jump out of a five hundred foot tower with a specially constructed set of wings to see if he could glide on them. Before he made the trip he wrote a will to dispose of seven thousand dollars which he had in the bank. Having no near relatives he willed the money in this way: Knowing that a dear friend and the friend's wife had added to their family the jumper arranged for his friend to receive one-third and the baby two-thirds if the baby was a boy or the friend to receive two-thirds and the baby one-third if the baby was a girl. The thrill-giver made the jump and passed to (we hope) a better world. The friend's addition to the family had been twins, a boy and a girl. In order to best fulfill the intentions of the will what amount should the boy and the girl and their father (the friend) receive?

Answer to Yesterday's Twizzler.

The shortest trip for the spider would be the hypotenuse of a right angle triangle with sides of thirty-eight feet and thirteen feet. The length of the hypotenuse is between forty and forty-one feet.

Troop Scribes Give Weekly Reports on Activities

Alas and alack, this is the last write up from our troops for this year. Next year we will have new scribes, and different news — we hope.

Troop II
Our troop held an all day picnic at the Pines State park. Nature work, hikes, and tumbles in the creek were enjoyed.

Mrs. Wimpleberg, our scout leader, permitted us to have a tea at her home. Each scout invited their mother or a friend. Mrs. H. Edwards was also there and passed us on the requirements for our Hostess badge.

—Scribe, Jean Meeks.

Troop IV
Our troop had planned an all day hike to Lowell park, but our plans were changed due to the rain. We met at North Central school at 9:45 A. M. and were taken in cars to Warner's cottage at Grand Detour. There we enjoyed games, toasting marshmallows, and having a picnic luncheon. We all had a grand time and thank our captain and lieutenants for this nice final outing.

We also wish to thank Mrs. Robert Warner for the use of her cottage.

—Carol Wirth, Troop Scribe.

Troop X

Wonders never cease—and to be sure, it's Troop X popping up again, just to let "their" public know they are still in existence, so they start out by telling you.

We still have a troop, if you are wondering about us (and no doubt you have been), and we are really doing things. Lately we have been working on our Junior Citizen badge, being coached by our captain and lieutenant, Misses Leydig and Nattress.

Our final meeting was purely social with an enthusiastic discussion on our new camp "John G. Ralston," and on our prospective "bike" trip to the north. This meeting was held at our leader's home, and with perfect attendance. We are looking forward to being in camp, and having one "grand time" this summer.

—Scribe, Mary Louise Smith.

Troop XI

Troop XI, has had its last meeting, and here we invested three new scouts, Joyce Jacobs, Shirley Rhodes, and Shirley Houston.

Last week we sent a basket of fruit, to Mrs. Miller our captain, with a note telling her how sorry we were that she has been quarantined with scarlet fever.

We wish also to thank Mrs. George Smith, who has been taking her place, for the last few meetings.

—Scribe, Barbara Hoon.

Lowell Park

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fairchilds, Fern and Burton Fairchilds, Frank Sprouls, Louis Leydig, Ray Shavers, Arthur Handells, Ray Barrons, Arthur Wilson, Ralph Zarger and Dave Boos enjoyed a picnic at Lowell park Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Buck and L. D. Gould of Peoria enjoyed a holiday at the park.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Weistead and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wilkins enjoyed an outing Monday at the park.

At softball games played at the park Sunday the I. N. U. team won the first game from Peoria 7 to 2, but lost the second 1 to 7.

J. H. Hersom and family of Dixon entertained the Nicholson family of Oak Park and the Willard Fowler family of Aurora at a picnic Sunday.

Mercedes Gerlach, Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, Ida DeLoak and Lewis Bott all of Chicago were park visitors Sunday.

Frances DePuy, Robert Vest and Mr. and Mrs. Robert DePuy of Dixon and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pitcher, Jr. of Streator enjoyed a picnic supper on Sunday.

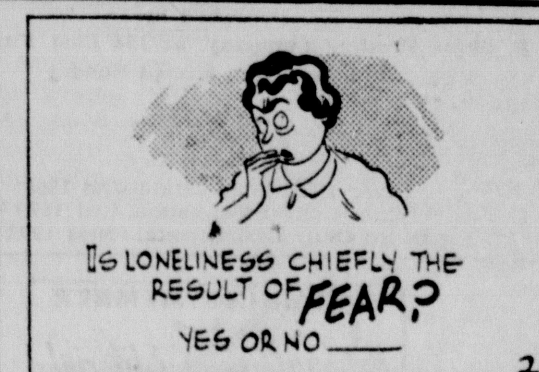

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Elzenga of Chicago, Leonard Van Beck and Miss Harriet Bouma also of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Essens and sons of Morrison and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Larkey of Morrison were park visitors yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Thomas and son Wayne, Mrs. Myrtle George, Miss Margaret Ballou, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Redebaugh, Mr. and Mrs. William Lang of Peoria, Mrs. Clara Shawger and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Warfel and sons Ran-

Answer to Question No. 1

1. It is one of the surest ways to make yourself be considered a good talker. Why? Simply because real listening is a very active, entertaining, energetic process. Even if you don't speak a word, you nod and gesture and show your interest. Nothing will draw the speaker out as this does. He'll go away thinking you are a fine talker, having failed to observe that he did nearly all the actual talking. Better send for our booklet, "The Art of Conversation" by Milton Wright. Shows you how to talk and listen. Sent at cost—10 cents, plus a self-addressed 3 cent stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. So that most helpful minister, Joseph Fort Newton, St. James Church, Philadelphia, says in his fine article in a recent Atlantic, "A Minister's Mail." Like myself he receives thousands of letters from broken, lonely and fear-ridden people, and I agree with him that never were so many human souls so lonely and so afraid as they are today. Especially in the cities, where they are trampled on and where apparently nobody cares what becomes of them. Solitude, as he says, is one thing—a thing of quiet and peace—but loneliness is the fearful sense of being helpless in a world where we are surrounded with other human beings with whom we cannot overcome our inhibitions, shyness, and fear.

Answer to Question No. 3
3. Women are more talkative than men, as research shows, but why—ah, the eternal question! It is probably due to something in their inherited constitution, but whether it is more thyroid or what William James called a "hair trigger nervous constitution," or greater natural interest in the immediate surroundings which is the subject of most conversations—well, we just don't know. We do know it is not because they have more general knowledge because both sexes run about neck and neck on this point.

ARMY OF "PAVEMENT BOYS" A CHALLENGE TO DEMOCRACY

Say what you please about the dictators, you cannot accuse them of neglecting the problem of idle youth.

Their solution for the problem may look weird and unholy, from any civilized point of view; but at least they realize that the problem exists, and they try to do something about it—which, very often, is more than you can say for our enlightened democracy.

Herbert Hoover touched on this point in an address before sponsors of the Boys' Club of Milwaukee the other day.

"The boy problem of America is the 'pavement boy,' the boy of the congested area, with no adequate occupation between school hours and bed time," he remarked. "There are 3,000,000 boys in this class who are completely lacking in opportunity for constructive joy. They are chiefly in need of occupational direction, an intelligent effort to find their bent and help direct them into the line of work for which they are fitted."

And then he remarked on the contrast between the way our democracy lets this problem slide and the way the dictatorships tackle it.

"The authoritarian governments of Europe start with the children of 7 to 9 years, to make Fascists or Communists of them," he said. "If we are going to make them able citizens of a democracy, we must start as early, building their individual characters and their sense of responsibility."

Probably one of the greatest distinguishing features of a free society is the fact that it does let certain problems slide. A democracy tends to feel that the cure can often be worse than the disease, so it doesn't do a lot of things which the dictatorships do, and in many cases this is all to the good. But the youth problem is something else again.

All the things that have been printed in recent years about gangsters, kidnapers and commercialized crime ought to show us that we can pay a fearful price for letting these "pavement boys" Mr. Hoover speaks of grow up without any guidance. The underworld gets its recruits from these boys; if society doesn't let those lads feel that there is a place for them, the underworld will.

But that isn't all. Those European strongarm squads which took the dictators to power were recruited in precisely the same way. The mere presence in any country of a floating mass of discontented, placeless young men is a standing invitation to the unscrupulous demagogue to collect a following and make trouble.

Indeed, it is more than that: It is a challenge to democracy itself.

THESIS ON THESE

It used to be great sport looking over the annual list of subjects chosen for scholarly theses by the college boys gunning for degrees.

The notion that the choice of a subject of general interest automatically barred the author from any claim to true scholarship resulted in some wonderful specimens. You found subjects every bit as silly as "The Evolution of the 4-in-Hand Knot During the Hundred-Years War," or "Study of the Reaction of Shell-Fish to the Congressional Record."

The signs are now that there aren't going to be half the hysterics in theses that there used to be.

First crop of 1938-model theses to come to attention is Princeton's. The newspapers, public opinion, and current affairs prove to be the most popular subjects among the theses that are outstanding. A survey of the whole batch, outstanding or not, shows a revival of interest generally in matters of concern to the rest of the world.

It suggests that in the near future the public mind won't be distinguishing between the scholar and the "practical man of affairs." It suggests, too, that the scholar's contributions to human welfare may be more immediately valuable.

MACHINES ARE TOOLS

Politics is probably being saddled with more of the blame for unemployment these days than improved machinery, but you still find the machine—the non-political one—pictured as the giant snatcher of men's jobs, the monster bread-thief.

A peek at an 11-year-survey just completed by the American Iron and Steel Institute is in order.

Technological advances in steel mill equipment have been directly responsible for a jump in employment in that field, the survey reports. The employment increase between 1926 and 1937 for four leading steel companies which adopted continuous rolling mills and other technological innovations was 28 per cent, or 5 per cent more than that of the steel industry as a whole.

The institute states that what these technological advances did was to make shorter working hours possible, accelerate production, improve the product's quality (and therefore increase the demand), and lower the price. All of which not only shot up employment, according to the survey, but the individual's earning capacity also.

It indicates—again—that a tool is simply an inanimate object which a man uses, and the man, not the tool, is to be held accountable for the ends to which it is used.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Not in a long time has the Capital seen such plain and fancy buck-passing as now going on behind the scenes between the White House and Congress on the serious problem of the railroads.

The plight of most of the carriers is desperate. Overloaded with staggering debts, their equipment run down, receipts—under the pounding of the recession—hitting new record lows, they are in urgent need of drastic action.

All hands are agreed on that. But no one wants to take the initiative. The President, who dumped the problem into the lap of Congress several months ago with a message that continued all the various plans but carefully dodged approving any of them, is saying, in effect, "Gentlemen of Congress, it's up to you."

And the boys on Capitol Hill, with their eyes on the coming elections, are whispering back, "No, it's up to you, Mr. President. You can take the rap better than we."

To which the President is replying, "How do you figure that? I've got just as big a stake in the elections as you have."

The likely upshot of this under-cover buck-passing is that the session, now rushing to a close, will end without a move being made to help the railroads.

Wage-Cut Dynamite

At the root of all this chary maneuvering is the wage-reduction demand of the carriers.

Until they announced this plan several weeks ago, the stage was all set to shoot through legislation to lend them an additional $300,000,000 and suspend interest payments on certain securities. Obviously this was a makeshift program, but it would have tideed over the present emergency.

But when the rail executives made known their intention to slash wages, they upset their own legislative applecart. A new factor entered the play. The powerful rail brotherhoods, previously enthusiastic supporters of the lending plan, Result: The White House and Congress dropped the scheme like a red-hot poker.

That continues to be the situation today. Each end of Pennsylvania Avenue is trying to prod the other into picking up the poker, with each saying to the other, "After you, my dear Alphonse."

What the outcome will be is anybody's guess. But if the railroads really want the $300,000,000, it is their move next. The politicians are too scared of the brotherhoods.

White House Informality

Veteran White House attendants smile to think how things have changed since the days of Coolidge and Hoover. At a recent White House reception, Mrs. Roosevelt reached a new high in informality.

She was about to introduce a dancer to the guests crowded into the East Room, but the President was seated at the far end of the long room and could not see. So Mrs. Roosevelt asked the guests to divide into two groups on either side of the room, leaving an avenue open for the President's view.

When the guests had pushed back, Mrs. Roosevelt, standing on the platform, waved her hand toward the President and called out: "Yoo-hoo, Franklin, can you see now?"

Same Tar Brush

Politics is funny. The other day Senator Burt Wheeler shook the rafters of the Senate with impassioned denunciation of Relief Administrator Harry Hopkins for saying that if he were still an Iowan he would vote for Representative Otha Wearin for U. S. Senator.

This is playing politics in a reprehensible manner, thundered Wheeler, and it must be stopped at once.

It so happens, however, that Burt Wheeler has played more politics with patronage than almost any man in Congress. He has one of the tightest political machines in the country, built on a foundation of huge mounds of federal pie. And there is no man in Congress more zealous in defending his place at the counter.

Since Burt bolted the reservation, New Dealers have been trying to favor Senator Jim Murray, Wheeler's colleague, who has remained loyal. But they have had rough going.

When the Agriculture Department tried to name O. M. Regnier, former secretary to Murray, as State AAA Director, Wheeler raised so much commotion that the appointment was dropped and another man acceptable to Wheeler was substituted.

And the other day Wheeler put one of his federal jobholders, Gene Burris, a WPA official, into the field against Representative Jerry O'Connell because Jerry has his eye on Wheeler's scalp in 1940.

Politics, indeed, is funny. The pot

On a Limb

The boys in the House caught Representative Bob Rich over a barrel the other day.

The gangling Pennsylvanian is a red-hot economist. No appropriation bill gets by him without a vigorous effort to yield the knife. But when the $3,000,000,000 recovery measure came up, Rich, who represents a rural district joined other ruralists in boosting the rural electrification fund from $40,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Nothing was said about this at the time. But the other day, when Representative Clifford Woodrum brought up the independent offices appropriation bill calling for a $61,000,000 increase over last year, Rich jumped to his feet and demanded hotly, "Why didn't the conferees cut down the expenditures in this bill?" Woodrum was on top of him in a flash.

"I'll tell you why," the Virginian said sardonically, "because the conferees were so discouraged by the action of the gentleman from Pennsylvania the other day. After seeing the gentleman vote to override the Budget Bureau and increase the appropriation for rural electrification, they just didn't have the heart to cut the expenditures in this bill."

The House roared with laughter and Rich grinned sheepishly. Woodrum continued his razing.

"The gentleman from Pennsylvania will have a hard time to purge his economy record. The gentleman by that action voted to increase the national debt; he voted to increase the spending he has been complaining of. My friends, years of penitence will not purge that blot."

Record-Breaking Wheat Crop Seen

Chicago, June 1—(AP)—Harvest of a record-breaking United States winter and spring wheat crop this year was forecast Tuesday by James E. Bennett and Co., on the basis of data from hundreds of farmer and grain dealer reporters throughout the belt.

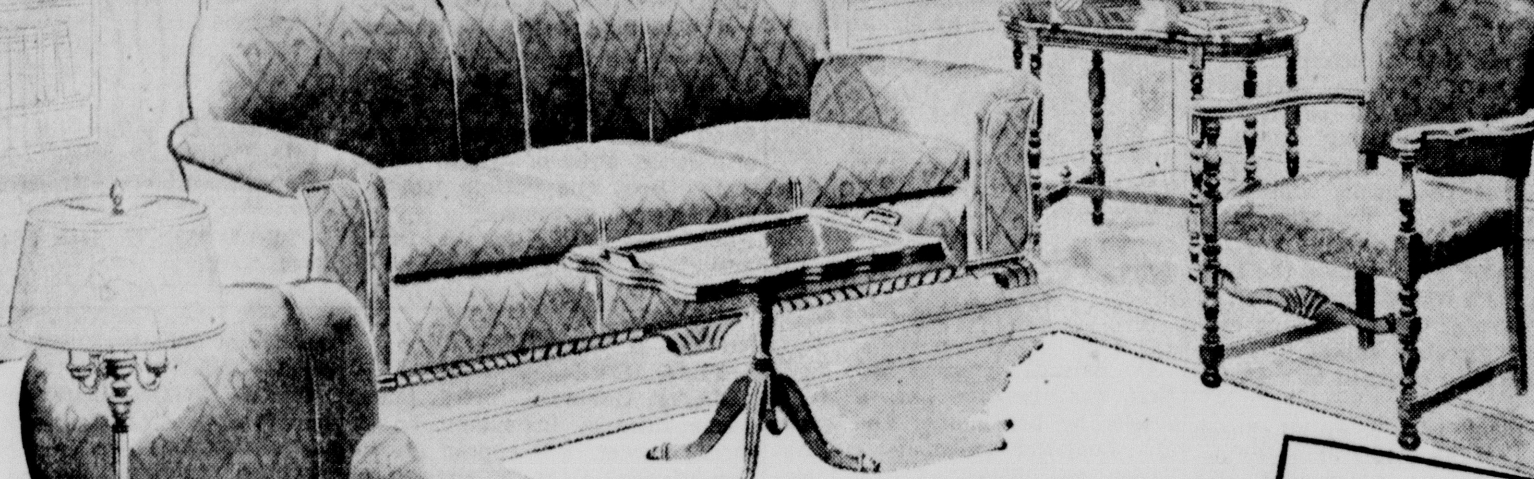

The total crop predicted by the Chicago grain house was 1,055,000,000 bushels, C. M. Calvin, stationer for Bennett & Co., said the previous record domestic crop was 1,009,000,000 harvested in 1915.

Release of the crop estimate shortly after the market opened was partly responsible for another decline in prices to new five-year lows.

As outlined in Lysgate's etiquette book, rules for table etiquette in the 17th century included: Wipe spoon after eating and do not leave it on dish; do not drop sauce or soup over clothes; do not fill spoon too full; do not bring dirty knives to table; do not pick teeth.

Franklin Grove, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Royster of South Dixon and Miss Lorraine Hackbarth of Dixon visited Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hullah.

500 ATTENDED PICNIC.

Over 500 attended the Community picnic Friday. Several years ago it was decided by the school to have a community picnic taking the place of the various class picnics. It proved to be such a success that it has been continued and this year was the banner year in attendance and had not the farmers been so busy with their late corn planting it would have been much larger. All the stores of the town were closed from 12 o'clock until four that all the business men might enjoy the dinner and the afternoon.

The gym did its part in making the picnic a success this year. In former years there has been the worry about the tables and the weather conditions—not so this year. There was a very large gym to be used for the dinner, and the program of the afternoon. Call it by any name you see fit, Kersten Gymnasium or Community House, it has filled a long felt want in this community. It surely has been a Community house in every sense of the word. The very finest community spirit prevails at present that has prevailed in years. All on account of having a place to have gatherings in. There was hardly an evening all winter that the gym was not in use. And in use in such a manner that a crowd was drawn to it. Basketball, parties, entertainments, plays, a number of such gatherings. The Woman's club has used it once a month for their meetings, the membership being so large that no house could accommodate them. Then the final climax came Friday with the largest of picnics. An ideal building. A much needed building in this community that is proving its real value every day.

Following is the program that was carried out at the picnic Friday:

11:00—Races for grade school children under the direction of Mr. Edwards.

G. A. A. versus Alumni baseball game. The "Alums" won 17-3.

12:00—Dinner in the gymnasium. Tables were full and many had to sit on the bleachers.

1:15—German Band concert. Members of the band were Neil Fox, Wayne Bates, David Weigle, Jr., P. J. Blocher, and Harold Zoeller.

Legion awards presented by Mr. Arthur Watson. These awards were given to Elfrida Tholen and Charles Baker, Jr. for the outstanding work they have done in the grade school.

Presentation of activity and athletic awards, by Supt. Neil A. Fox.

Activity awards:

Hazel Blume—Senior.

Bill McDivitt—Undergraduate.

Those receiving honorable mention were: Courtney Schaefer, Elizabeth Chronister, Marvin Brown, Darlene Buck, Josephine Kelley, Wallace Heckman, Adeline Smith, Frances Kelley, John Senger, Robert Fish, Julia Moulton.

Boys athletic awards:

Those boys who received awards in the three major sports were as follows:

Baseball—Hatch, Bucher, Thomas, Ives, McDivitt, Schaefer, Brown, Heckman, Greenfield, Sandrock.

Basketball—Hatch, Bucher, Thomas, Ives, McDivitt, Brown, Gorton, Zimmerman, Shaulls, Roop.

Track—Hatch, Herwig, Bucher, Thomas, Ives, McDivitt, Fish, Schaefer, Brown, Heckman, Shaulls.

The boys who made the highest number of track points this year were Hatch, McDivitt, and Brown.

Johnny Hatch received a sweater for earning three letters for two years in succession. He is the first sophomore ever to have won a sweater.

Girls' athletic awards by Miss Blanche Lyford, director of G. A. girls who received their first numerals for winning 600 points in G. A. A. work were as follows: Doris Howard, Kathleen Karper, Dorothy Tholen, Julia Moulton, Eva Rhodes, June Miller, Marie Black, Betty Bettendorf, Darlene Buck, June Hatch, Betty Heath, Roberta Kint, and Kathryn Withey. Eleanor Yocum who has served as president of the G. A. A. this year was the only girl to win 1200 points and to receive the school letter.

Flag drill by grade school. Each child carried two flags and marched to music of "The Star-Spangled Banner." A grade school chorus joined the numbers of the drill in singing the last chorus.

Girls' trio—Jeanne Blank, June Hatch, and Darlene Buck sang "My Blue Heaven" and "Vieni, Vieni."

H. S. versus Alumni ball game. Alumni won by a score of 5-3.

Honor Roll

Following is the honor roll of the high school for the last six weeks:

Juniors—Marvin Brown, Darlene Buck, Betty Heath, June Miller, Gerald Emmert, Bill McDivitt, June Hatch, Bernice Hartzell.

Seniors—Hazel Blume, Kenneth Sandrock.

High honors—Robert Fish, Julia Moulton, Mary Nowels.

Memorial Services were held on Sunday afternoon at the Emmert cemetery west of town. Attenberg Post No. 497 had charge. By 2:30 a large crowd had gathered at the cemetery to pay honor to their dead. The graves were beautifully decorated. The cemetery never looked more lovely than it did on Sunday. The first on the program was the decorating of the soldiers' graves by the children and Post 497. The American Legion, firing of salute. After which services were held in the chapel; singing by the audience, after which Rev. P. H. Pscholtz of the Lutheran church of Nachusa offered the invocation. A vocal number by the sextette from the Father and Sons of Dixon. The address of the afternoon was given by Dr. Eugene Vest, teacher in the English department of the Dixon high school. Vocal number by the Sextette, and the benediction closed the Memorial services for 1938 at the Emmert cemetery.

Services in Presbyterian Church

Alttenberg Post No. 497, the American Legion, with G. W. Ling the only surviving Civil war veteran in this community were invited guests at the services in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

The pastor, Rev. Louis Grafton, preached a patriotic sermon. The girls trio from the high school, Darlene Buck, June Hatch and Jean Blank favored with a number, accompanied by Mrs. George Emmert at the pipe organ.

During the Sunday school hour Nelson Blocher of Chicago, rendered a song "Jesus Came to Be My Savior." The song and music were written by himself, and is published by the Melody Music Publisher of Chicago. It seemed very fitting for Nelson to sing in the Sunday school that he attended when a lad. His father the late John Blocher was leader of the Presbyterian choir for years and was also an Elder of the local Presbyterian church. Nelson's singing Sunday morning brought many fond memories to the older members of the congregation.

A RADIO IN EVERY HOME

PROGRAM OF TURKEY

Istanbul—(AP)—Dictator Kemal Ataturk, already busy with Turkey's big re-armament program, now wants "a radio in every home" as part of his nation-wide educational plan.

Every train and station in the state railroad system is being equipped with a receiving set.

The government also plans reduction of import duties on radios until Turkish factories can produce sets at prices the poorest laborer can afford.

Paul Newcomer of the Walgreen Co. is here from Chicago to spend the holiday week-end.

tion so as to permit the orderly flow into market channels of the already stored-up surpluses?

Adapted to Storage.

"The Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 covers corn, wheat, cotton, tobacco and rice. Each of these commodities is peculiarly adapted to storage and therefore a program of commodity loans."

"In application, the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 places full responsibility with the farmers of the United States to produce adequate food and fibre to feed and clothe the nation and in addition thereto, the production of adequate surpluses of basic crops as to protect the nation against disaster, such as drought, insect, pests, etc."

In return for accepting this responsibility, the Act assures farmers of a definite program of commodity loans, the amount of which is determined by the volume of production of a given crop and to be used only to the extent necessary to stabilize commodity price levels. In addition thereto, it provides nominal price adjustment payments which are available to cooperating farmers.

The Act is founded upon the experience of American business. Every informed person knows that manufacturers do not continue to produce industrial products far in excess of market demands.

When Effective.

"The Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 is only effective when surpluses of agricultural commodities are in such volume that if not controlled, will destroy fair price levels for the commodities and with it the buying power of millions of farm people.

"The Act specifically provides that in determining the acreage allotment of a given commodity, the Secretary of Agriculture, in the case of corn, shall give to the commercial corn-producing area an acreage which with normal yield and normal production outside the commercial area, when added to the carry-over of the previous year, shall give the nation 110% of its normal domestic and export requirements."

"Many would have you believe that the Act extends dictatorial powers to the Secretary of Agriculture. On the contrary, the Act specifically outlines the powers and the factors upon which the Secretary will make his several determinations and in every case it assures the nation of adequate supplies under normal conditions. The only real change brought about by this legislation is that crop surpluses are definitely placed under the control of farmers to the extent that they take advantage of their opportunities.

"When farmers come fully to understand the impossibility of each producing to the limit and receiving for such production a fair price in the market channels or the country; when consumers come to understand that their interests are much better served through a program insuring adequate supplies at all times at fair, stable price levels, rather than a system which results in shortages and high prices one year to be followed by market gluts and low prices the following year; and when citizens generally come to recognize that a prosperous America ultimately depends upon a stable prosperous agriculture, we will all approach the farm problem and its solution in a much more cooperative attitude."

ENGINES WILL BE WORN LESS THIS SUMMER

But you want to know exactly why. You're leery of general statements that won't save you one piston ring or one quart of oil. So you want what the doctors call a specific. And that's what you get—a definite, substantial, physical protector that actually exists right in your engine as soon as you get it OIL-PLATED. Only patented Conoco Germ Processed oil from Your Mileage Merchant's station can give your engine OIL-PLATING. Other oils can't. No matter how much refining is claimed for them, they cannot surpass the correct refining of Conoco Germ Processed oil, but refining only takes things out. Going much farther, Germ Processing adds in the patented man-made substance that gives your engine OIL-PLATING. Only this addition by the Germ Process makes oil "join up" with the working parts, to keep them OIL-PLATED. All the while Germ Processed oil is used, OIL-PLATING is permanent. Like other plating, OIL-PLATING keeps wear from getting through. And like other plating, OIL-PLATING can't drain down at any time. Actually united to each surface, OIL-PLATING gives your engine lubrication that needn't wait for the oil pump... Before other oils could even begin to circulate, OIL-PLATING is ready to lubricate! Thus you know why the much-advertised harm of "dry starting" doesn't mean a thing with your engine OIL-PLATED. And you wouldn't expect any good plating to go flying off at Summer speeds, or to frizzle away in the Summer heat. Then expect the heat indicator to stay on the safe side, while the gauge-stick keeps saying, "Still full of Conoco Germ Processed oil!" That's why it's smart and thrifty today to have Your Mileage Merchant OIL PLATE YOUR ENGINE. Continental Oil Co.

See Lou Ambers Next Victim of Armstrong's Fists

ROSS BEATEN TO STRICKEN BLOODY PULP

Henry Emerged From Struggle Without Tell-Tale Mark

New York, June 1.—(AP)—If you see a little blond man running today like his coat-tails were on fire and glancing fearfully over his left shoulder every now and then, the odds are you are looking at Lou Ambers, the lightweight boxing champion, who agreed in a moment of aversion to fight Henry Armstrong this coming July.

Lou, no doubt has heard how Armstrong beat Barney Ross into a bleeding, stricken pulp in 15 rounds last night at Madison Square Garden bowl to add Barney's welterweight championship to the featherweight crown he already held.

The consensus of those who sat through the slow, agonizing destruction of Ross, one of the truly great little fighters of the decade, was that Ambers had a similar fate in store as soon as he faced the relentless Los Angeles Negro.

Gross attendance: 28,290.
Net paid attendance: 26,430.
Gross receipts: $160,860.64.
Net receipts: $136,015.58.

Armstrong gave Ross such a terrible beating that Barney, the right side of his face swollen like a half-moon and his eyes tightly clenched, muttered in his dressing room that he would never fight again.

It wasn't Ross' 28 years or failing legs that cost him the title. It was a left hook that for 15 rounds almost ripped his head from his shoulders. For the last half of the fight he was intent only on lasting the distance.

Resistance Futile.
He tried to fight back in flurries, but his blows after the fifth round had nothing behind them. Armstrong, amazingly strong, merely bore in the harder. At the finish he accepted the new championship completely unmarked and as fresh as paint.

If he whips Ambers, Armstrong will have captured championships in three different weight divisions in less than a year.

Last night the human pinwheel weighed 133½ to Ross' 142. Even so, Armstrong was the stronger man every second of the way. He bullied Ross about in the clinches and never allowed Barney to take the play except for brief flurries. The only thing he lacked was a stiffening punch.

The Associated Press score sheet credited Armstrong with 11 rounds, Ross with four, and one of those went to the Jewish lad because Referee Arthur Donovan thought he had been struck low. After the eighth round it was all Armstrong. Several times Barney's managers, Art Winch and Sam Plan, begged him to quit, and at the start of the 12th round the referee added his head and went out to take his medicine.

Far from finding Ross tough, Armstrong told newsmen it was one of his easiest fights. He said Barney's blows never bothered him, even in the opening rounds when the heavier man was landing with everything he had.

There was considerable talk immediately after the scrap that Ross had been handicapped by injured hands, but Barney denied it.

Henry Will Pitch For Dixon Knacks Against Maytown

Maytown, one of the most formidable Illinois State league nines, will take the field Sunday afternoon here in an effort to stop the winning streak of the Dixon Knacks.

The locals have won five straight games, three of them within the circuit, which places them at the top of the list. Maytown, led by the ever-popular Father Halbmaier, has always sported dangerous teams and will be able to give the Knacks the game they have been looking for.

Francis Henry will return from his studies at Drake University and will be out for practice Thursday evening on the mound. Manager Bert Cummings plans to start the clever southpaw artist against Maytown, with Don Mulcahy behind the plate.

The Dixon park board has authorized the building of bleachers and will erect them as soon as the plans are completed. Dixon baseball lovers have supported the Knacks wholeheartedly this spring to date despite the lack of the stands which is a credit to the ability of the team.

In early days saluting with guns, monarchies received more guns than republics, for they were considered more important. In the beginning, gun salutes consisted of 7 guns, since 7 always has been regarded as a magic number.

Assembly Park Arena Considered Ideal For Summer Ring Matches

Second Card Brings New Faces Here Tomorrow Evening

With the huge Assembly Park auditorium as the site, boxing fans will again be treated to a first-class ring show here tomorrow night, the seven-bout card starting as usual promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

The arena has a seating capacity of approximately 5000. Almost 1000 attended the first night of the summer fight series here a fortnight ago. Fighters and managers alike acclaim the Assembly Park auditorium as an ideal site for the matches.

Among the fighters on the card here tomorrow is Harry Kobbelaar. In 1937 he was in the A. A. U. tournament as a flashy middleweight and has fought the best talent in his class in Illinois. Tommy Morris, another boxer who will fight here tomorrow, was Golden Gloves champion of his division this year. He is a southpaw. He has fought on Sterling cards and man in his weight.

Newcomer Here

Kid Goering is a newcomer to Dixon fans. He was Golden Gloves champion of his division this spring and will be entered in a grudge bout which ought to force him to reveal all his talents to the local audience. Forder of Sterling, a 147-lb. welterweight is fast becoming one of the leading fighters in this section of the country. Virgo also on the card is considered a very aggressive battler.

Alex Williams, local product, who made his debut here two weeks ago and won considerable popularity by his showing, will be in action again and Jack Collins of Moline will be booked to appear here this week, also adding spice to the program. Kid Harms, the Deer Grove pride, needs no introduction to boxing enthusiasts of Dixon and northern Illinois. His open style of fighting makes him at once a dangerous man to all who oppose him. He has gained a reputation by fighting most of the leading heavyweights of the state.

George Carlson of Dixon will make his first ring appearance in two years. He used to be a constant figure on Dixon boxing cards but tomorrow night the audience will get a first hand glimpse of him for the first time since 1935 and will be able to judge just how far Carlson has slipped if any during his layoff.

Pete Hantz of Peoria who has beaten Elwood McReynolds of Dixon in the past is paired in the feature bout with the Dixon boy tomorrow night. Hantz knocked out Bullock in the second round two weeks ago and will be the most dangerous opponent McReynolds has faced in a Dixon ring for many months.

SAINATI MOST VALUABLE TO ILLINI NINE

Champaign, Ill., June 1.—(AP)—Leo Sainati, pitcher from Cicero, Ill., was the most valuable player on the University of Illinois baseball team this season.

Sainati, a senior, had that honor today as a result of a vote of his teammates at the annual track-baseball banquet here last night.

Tom McConnell, catcher from University City, Mo., was elected captain of next year's baseball team and Bob Diefenthaler, Oconee, Ill., high jumper, was selected to lead the 1938-39 track team.

Baseball letters were awarded at the banquet, in addition to Sainati and McConnell, went to John R. Berner, Morris; John H. Callah, Ernest Cavallio, Leonard Kallik, Anthony Mazeka and Theodore Nykel, all of Chicago; Donald W. Christiansen, Park Ridge; Frank Conley, Belvidere; Russell Doyle, St. Louis; Charles Farrington, Streator; Richard Kuera, Berwyn and John Pacotti, Kincaid. Recipients of track letters were Robert Ashley, Peoria; Andy R. Glosceki, Taylor Springs; Charles Keller and Wayne B. Yarcho, both of Champaign; Wilbur B. McGowan, Urbana; Dean Swift, Evanston; Nugent Wedding, Grafton, and Diefenthaler.

In 1933, there were 433 septuagenarians in every 10,000 of population in England, as compared to 297 to every 10,000 in 1914.

WEST BROOKLYN TAKES SECOND LOOP VICTORY

West Brooklyn chalked up its second victory of the season by defeating Welland at West Brooklyn by a score of 8-0.

H. Herrmann and Lefty Knauer proved themselves masters of the trade by allowing the visitors but three hits and issuing one base on balls, the latter by Knauer in the ninth inning. The rest of the team played a snappy defensive game and rallied to the cause of their star pitchers to the tune of 10 hits, one a home run by Billy Grove.

The Welland team made a brave attempt to offset the tight pitching of Herrmann and Knauer but were limited to two hits off Herrmann in five innings of play while Knauer stopped them with one hit, the first batter who faced him in the beginning of the sixth, lining one over second for a safe single. Fielding honors for Welland go to Schmidt, center fielder, who made two spectacular catches, one—a blow by Casey Jones, in the third inning that was ticketed for a sure double. Knauer, with two doubles and Martinkus with two singles led the home team in hits. Marty driving in the first runs of the game with a single in the first inning with the bases loaded and two out. West Brooklyn hopes to add another victory to their total when they journey to Rochelle on Sunday where they meet the Rochelle nine on home territory. The club wishes to thank their loyal fans who turned out Sunday to boost their local team and ask that they give their co-operation in this respect during the season—the boys appreciate your interest and West Brooklyn has a ball club of which to be proud. Bits of Gossip of Sports Picked Up By AP Writer

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, June 1.—(AP)—The surprise of it was that Ross stayed as long as he did. . . . To many it looked like Armstrong wasn't hitting as hard as he did to mow down Peety Sarron and some of his more recent opponents. . . . Jim Braddock sat at the ringside and pulled hard for Barney, although he admitted Ross was on his way out before the fight was half through. . . . The fact that Joe DiMaggio, the Yankee home run knocker was with Braddock and Joe Gould gave rise to fresh rumors that Gould is handling "Der Mag's" business affairs. . . . Fresh denials followed.

Mayor Hague of Jersey City sat at the ringside surrounded by New York detectives. . . . Mike Jacobs, busy as he was, stopped to do a little business on the side. . . . He accepted a check for $250 from former champion Gene Tunney for tickets to the Louis-Schmeling brawl later in the month. . . . The first two heats produced some of the fastest, fiercest fighting New York audiences have been treated to in years. . . . Even before the crowd fled out of the arena, bets were being made that Ambers would stop Armstrong if they get together for Lou's lightweight title.

A guard tried to stop Mike Jacobs at one of the side gates. . . . "I'm the guy who runs the Jerry Mike said. . . . I don't care if you're the king of England; you don't get through without a pass," said the guard. . . . "Fire this bird," roared Miketo an inspector. "He wouldn't let me in." . . . A moment later he returned and said: "Don't fire that guy; if he don't let me in, he won't admit the phoney."

Mike bustled about the ringside wearing one of those pork pie hats. . . . More and more schools are featuring cheer leaders for their football teams. . . . The original was Martha Draper of Tulane who hopped from the gridiron to the front line of the Ziegfeld Follies. . . . Ival Goodman has led the average being hit by pitched balls every year since he joined the club. . . . Time for Al Schacht to switch stories. . . . That one about the chauffeur who couldn't drive has about petered out. . . . Bob Pastor averaged $3,000 each for his three fights in the west. . . . CITY NET TEAM IN ROCK RIVER VALLEY LOOP

Captain George Covert of the Dixon city tennis team and No. 1 player, has announced the local tennis club which is entering the Rock River Valley circuit, will compete on the home courts, Sunday, June 12, against an opponent of the circuit not yet selected.

Members of the city tennis team are: Captain George Covert, Clifford Flanagan, Ken Smith, William Rusk, Garland Snow, R. A. Joseph, and Charles Kearney. These players are asked to meet at 7:30 P. M. tonight at the Candy Box at which time plans will be made for purchasing equipment. Cliff Flanagan is in charge of making arrangements until the arrival of Captain Covert who is completing his school year at Iowa City high school, Iowa City, Ia.

Competition on the Dixon Evening Telegraph's tennis ladder continued over the Memorial Day holiday with Garland Snow, No. 5, attempting to hold down the challenge of Alan Wiennman, No. 6. Wiennman won the first set 8-6 but dropped the second 14-12. The date for the play-off set is not yet determined as Wiennman suffered painful foot blisters which will prevent his playing for several days.

Rally Falls Short Moline Plowboys Still In Second

Chicago, June 1.—(AP)—The Plowmen of Moline were a little deeper in second place in the Three-Eye league today because a ninth inning rally fell short.

Meeting the leading Evansville Bees last night, Moline was nosed out, 7 to 6, in its first direct bid to take the lead away from the Hoosiers. Two Bee runs in the eighth supplied the margin of victory and the Plowmen were able to retrieve one of them in the ninth.

In other games yesterday, Waterloo beat Springfield, 7 to 5; Bloomington beat Cedar Rapids, 2 to 1, and Decatur beat Clinton 6 to 5 in 14 innings.

The same clubs were scheduled to meet again today.

BOSTON BEES DELIGHT FANS BY COMEBACK

Duplicating Feat Of 1914 Braves Experts Say

It is Boston baseball tradition for Boston's National League team to perform wonders for its fans in sudden and spectacular style. It happened in 1914 when the last place Braves as of July 19 soared stupendously to a pennant and a four-straight-games world championship. It happened this month when the Bees, last-placers in the batting averages, charged sensationally uphill to third place, challenging Giants and Cubs for the league lead.

It made the merriest May in many a year in Boston's National League citadel. Even its sourest moment—the Al Lopez thumb-fracture May 24—chipped in on the thrills, for May closed with Hub fandon rooting hard for Al's underdog, Ray Mueller and Johnny Riddle, as they vied might and main for the first-string receivership job.

The Bees were seventh May 14. They were sixth May 18. When all the scores were counted on May 19 the Casey Stengelmen had rocketed from sixth place to third. Experts all over the land began thumbing the averages to find out about these Bees and what they found deepened the profound impression made by the Boston feat. They were still last in club batting, but they had scaled their heights on superb pitching, classy all-around defensive play and chiefly the new manager's uncanny knack of getting most mileage out of least hits.

The apex in this Stengel specialty was the 1-0 win over the Pirates May 17. Russ Bauers pitched a one-hitter at the Hive, but he happened to be up against a 3-hit shut out served by Milburn Shockford. Furthermore, Boston's one hit, a single by the 300-hitter in the Bee lineup, Debs Garms, came with Fletcher on first. It was punctuated by an outfield throw which hit Fletcher on the shoulder near third base, the ball bouncing into the dugout and thus entailing the Boston leadoff man to score the first, last, only, and therefore winning run of the afternoon.

"Six weeks!" was the doctor's verdict on the Lopez thumb, fractured by a foul-tip from Bill Herrmann's bat May 24. "Six weeks of Mueller or Riddle or both," was the translation into Boston news headlines. So it's a merry battle that promptly began, promising power for the Bee runmaking armament to compensate for any sagging of the standard of catching from the shining Lopez level.

Understudy Catcher, Mueller was Boston's understudy catcher all last year while Riddle was backstop star at Indianapolis. Both have the experience. Both pack a punch at the plate.

Riddle hit 328 for the Indians and knocked home 65 runs in 104 games. Mueller's B. A. for his 64 National League games last year was a mere .251, but in the story of the Bees of '37, Mueller's blows followed the Bee policy, most mileage out of not-to-many hits.

Last July 30 Pittsburgh beat Boston, 1 to 0, a 2-hit shutout pitched by Ed Brandt. Mueller made both of the hits, a pair of two-baggers.

August 29 Mueller came to bat in the ninth with the bases full and St. Louis leading, 2 to 1. He dashed a single to right on St. John's first pitch and the Bees won, 3 to 2.

It was the first game of a doubleheader. In the nighttime Ray Harrell missed the Hall of Fame by the margin of one blow. As in the case of Brandt a month before, the no-hit-game shatterer was the stocky Boston catcher, Mueller, who singled in the sixth.

The biggest inning the Bees had all season was the fifth round of a doubleheader's first game at Wrigley Field September 14. Eight runs crossed the plate. The opening blow was Mueller's triple. He contributed a single his second time up in that festive session.

Fette and Frankhouse were knotted, 2 to 2, on September 30 when Mueller blasted a 400-foot homer into the Hive's high left-field bleachers, winning the game.

Only 251 for the year, but plenty of business accomplished with the willow. If hitting decides between Mueller and Riddle, there's a good chance for both of the boys. Riddle's Indianapolis stardom reflected in his being chosen unanimously by American Association scribes as catcher of their All-Star team last midseason.

Riddle is 31. Riddle is 31, five years older than Mueller. Riddle is a South Carolinian whose home has been in Indianapolis these past many years. Mueller is native to and resident of Pittsburg, without the final "h," which means the Kansas community of that name, not Pirateville, Pa.

Riddle has been with Indianapolis most of his professional career. Mueller was with Harrisburg in the Nypa League for 3 years, spent a year at Knoxville on option before landing his regular job at the Hive last spring.

At training camp, Mueller and Riddle understudy Lopez made the catching staff loom as second to none in the major leagues. Now that Lopez is on the shelf for a spell, that happy situation has its chance to make good and Hive fans found May's closing as exciting as that thrilling week when the Bees bounced from seventh place to third.

No. 13 may be lucky for Manager Grimes, but it's No. 19 that's the favorite with Chief Ernie Koy. The new Dodger slugger always hits one a mile on that date. At least, it's been his rule so far. His first major league homer happened in Philadelphia on Opening Day, April 19. His second was a May 19 feature at Ebbets Field. . . . Arky Vaughan, of the Pirates, has for his tutor the greatest shortstop in baseball history. He and Coach Honus Wagner are roommates when the Bucs are on the road. Under Wagner's tutelage, Arky's shortstopping has been improving by leaps and bounds. . . . Since Mel Ott became the Giants' versatile third-baseman last August 3, they've had a pennant-winning percentage. From that date until 1937 season's end they won 39 and lost 18, a .684 clip. So far most of this season their percentage has been well above that figure. . . . Ripper Collins, Cubs first-sacker, often gets tagged as a newspaper correspondent when the Bruins are on the road. Rip carries a portable typewriter with his luggage, a la scribe, using it mostly to make notes and transcribe stories for use in radio work during the off-season in and about his home town of Rochester, N. Y. . . . Intensive winter work on the take-off made Lonnie Frey sparkle on the leadoff this spring when Boss McKetchnie posted him at the top of the Cincinnati Reds batting order. All winter little Lulus majored in winter sports, taking off the skis only when time came for toogeaning.

Paging "Jersey Joe" around the Cardinal clubhouse brings you two instead of one, now that Jersey Joe Stripp is playing third base for the Gas House with Jersey Joe Medwick backing him up in left field. Stripp's address in Orange is no sleeper-jump from Medwick Carter castle, about 15 miles over concrete paving. . . . Gene Moore, Boston's best bet in the All-Around Homer-Hitting Derby, missed only in New York and Cincinnati last year. He got a flying start for the 1938 title by knocking off the Polo Grounds jinx on the season's second day with his first four-bagger of the year. . . . Bill Brandt.

Octagon House

BY PHOEBE ATWOOD TAYLOR

The Story So Far:

Assey Mayo, Cape Cod detective, is investigating yesterday's murder of Marina Lorne, whose husband's post office mural has aroused Quantomet. She was killed by a left handed blow from her sister's knife and Pam Frye is suspected. Pam disappears after hiding $50,000
"worth of ambergis she found."
Roddy Strutt's alibiing plane crash looks deliberate, and the alibi of agreeable Tim Carr, boarder at the Frye's Octagon House, is false. Assey overhears Tim's grandmother ask him, "Where did the girl put it?"
Then Jack Lorne brings startling news. He has discovered he was never really married to Marina, because she was already married to Tim Carr.

Chapter 23

"And this other. This note," Assey picked it up. "Twenty-five thousand dollars payable to Marina Carr. On demand. Signed by Timothy Carr, and witnessed by two people. Where,
Lorne, in heaven's name, did you find these two chunks of dynamite?"
"I found them this morning, in a tin box in the bottom drawer of a wardrobe trunk of hers. I never knew she had such a box. I was hunting for a will and insurance policies—I told her to put 'em in the bank box, but they weren't there. So I hunted, and I found this box. There were lots of other trinkets there. Diaries. Everything.
You want me to tell you about those diaries?"
Assey nodded. "Or you could let me see them."

"No one'll ever see those!"
Lorne said savagely. "I burned them, page by page!"
"Was that wise?" Assey asked.
"I see how you might have wanted to, but this note and this marriage certificate'll put Tim Carr in a hole."

"The diaries," Lorne said, "would have harmed him. That's one of the minor reasons I burned them.
The real reason was me. Me, and Aaron, and Pam. I decided that the three of us had taken enough. We—" he gulped. "We took plenty, we did."

"I'm inclined to think," Assey said, "that maybe perhaps you all have. No, she married Tim before she went through the motions of marrying you. That right?"
Lorne closed his eyes and leaned on his elbows.

"Today," he spoke as if he were quoting, "today I hooked Tim Carr."
In the same voice, he sketched the story.

"Hooked Tim Carr. Found today
he's all front. No money. Tightwad.
Everything for that grandmother. I hate her. Today I swiped his prize money and the old lady's jewelry.
Going abroad with Lorne, the sap.
He'll be famous some day. Got Carr fixed. The sample note he wrote for his math class, when they learned about making out checks and notes and accounts. Grabbed it from waste basket and ironed it out last week. Got Sammy and Peter to sign. They'd sign anything if I asked them. Let Carr try to divorce me—"

"Assey whistled softly. "I get it.
If Tim tried to divorce her, she'd raise hell with that note. But her witnesses—"

"She thought of them," Lorne said. "She thought of everything.
They witnessed it in the apartment, while Carr was there, just after he'd written something at the desk. She shifted the paper. The diary had all the details. She had him hold. For Carr to divorce her would have cost him $25,000, and I guess it might as well have been a million as far as he was concerned. Marina hated the grandmother. That's why she did it. The grandmother told her where she got off, and she was going to make the Carrs suffer for it. She had them, don't you see? If they tried to do anything about her, or her and me, all she had to do was to wave that note. She had them. And she also had some pretty rabid letters from Carr. I burned those."

"Threatening her?"
Lorne nodded. "I started to give them up to Hanson, and then I burned them up. They would have hanged him."

"And you don't want him to hang even though you think he killed your wife?"

Played for a Sucker

"All of us, Pam and Aaron and Carr and I," Lorne said, "we've suffered enough. I don't know—I'm not supposed to be very bright, and I'm not. I don't catch on to things quickly—God knows I don't!" he laughed bitterly. "But people who do things like Marina did, some time or other, things catch up with them. They caught up with her. I don't know how to explain what I feel. I'm not angry with Carr now."

He lighted a cigarette, and Assey noticed his hands. They were long and slender, feminine hands.

"The diaries had the whole story," Lorne went on. "What she did to the family, and before she met me, and afterwards, and who she did and everything. Everyone, Roddy. She was playing him for a sucker. Anyway it's all over with now. Carr did it, not Roddy, as Peg thought. And I hope that you and Hanson can't get him."

"Know anything about ambergis, Lorne?" Assey asked.

"That's what Pam's always talking about, Lorne said. "What she's always hunting. I never understood much about it. It's used for making perfumes, isn't it, or something like that? It's a whale's chin, or tail. I never could see why she made such a fuss over it."

"It's a sort of greasy stuff," Assey said, "that grows in the intestines of a whale. Fatty an' a little smelly, an' sort of streaked like marble.
You can probably get around $35
an ounce for it."

"An ounce," Lorne said. "An ounce?"

"Yup. An' yesterday, Pam found a lump about 100 pounds out from the point. And Marina found Pam.
After a squabble, Marina brought it back in Roddy's beach wagon, to your garage. And—"

"Where is it now?"

Assey shrugged. "Pam went over there later, and found Marina dead, and she removed it. I thought she brought it to Octagon House. It's not in the cellar, an' the cops didn't uncover it. I don't know where it is."

"That's swell for Pam, isn't it?"
Lorne said. "She—oh. But if someone found it and took it — gee, you've got to find it for her, haven't you?"

Assey looked at him curiously.
There was no doubt that the fellow was perfectly sincere.

"Yes, I got to find it before someone else does," Assey said, "an' someone else is huntin' it. Now—you don't breathe a word of this, you know. Not to anyone. But can you think of any part of the house where it might be?"

Do You Know Illinois

By EDWARD J. HUGHES, Secretary of State

Q. What two important schools for handicapped children are operated by the State at Jacksonville, Illinois?

A. The School for the Deaf and the School for the Blind.

Q. What important classes have been introduced into the Illinois School for the Blind in recent years?

A. Sight-saving classes.

Q. What students are accommodated by these classes?

A. Pupils who have been found by the eye clinic to have sufficient vision to be educated through the eye rather than the finger tips.

Q. On what basis is this adaptability to sight reading established?

A. Children with less than 20-70 and more than 20-200 vision, and those with progressive eye troubles.

Q. How is a child admitted to these classes?

A. By the resident State ophthalmologist. If the eye condition improves sufficiently the child is returned later by the ophthalmologist to the public school.

Q. How are the sight-saving classrooms equipped?

A. Light through the windows is controlled by double Holland-linen shades. As an aid to natural light luminaries of the semi-indirect type with differentiated controls insure a minimum of 24-foot candles for each child on the darkest days. All surfaces have a dull finish.

Q. What type is used in books supplied the children in these classes?

A. 24 point of "Clear Type."

Q. What are other featured articles of equipment?
